

Trade Spotlight: Futures Frequently Asked Questions

1. What is Trade Spotlight?

The Trade Spotlight is a commodity trading advisory. It's an email based service providing trade recommendations by applying our methodology based on our trading philosophy. Our technique is to track specific chart patterns for breakouts and apply key technical indicators to confirm the trade setup. That trade setup provides specific entry and exit levels with a focus on risk and capital management.

2. What do I receive with Trade Spotlight?

You receive a precise futures trading plan from entry to exit. It includes specific entry price, defined stop loss, target, and real-time trade management. In addition, you'll see the rationale behind the trade setup so you can learn as you trade.

3. Can I trade option contracts following the Trade Spotlight?

Yes, the same trading plan can be adapted to trade an option contract on the underlying futures market. Contact your Daniels Trading broker if you need any assistance setting up the trading plan. There is also an option segment of the advisory that provides other option trade recommendations as well.

4. Which markets are traded?

The trade advisory covers over forty futures markets spanning eight market sectors. It provides diversified trading opportunities in both the financial and physical commodity markets.

5. How many trades should I expect?

There are potentially 0-3 new trade recommendations per week based on market conditions.

6. What can I expect for emails?

The trade advisory consists of three parts. First, the Trade Setup emails present the new trade recommendations. These are delivered late afternoon or early evening to be acted on for the next session. Second, the Trade Management emails inform you when to tighten stops or take profits. Trade Management emails are normally delivered after the close, but may occasionally be sent out during the trading session if market conditions warrant. Lastly, the Weekly Summary email recaps the week's trading activity and delivered on Friday afternoons.

7. How much does this service cost?

There is no cost to receive this advisory service on an ongoing basis with an open account.

8. How do I gain access to the Trade Spotlight?

Establish a trading account with our firm to receive unlimited access or just contact your current Daniels Trading broker to be added to the list. If you are not yet client, we do offer a free trial.
