

Trade Spotlight: Spreads

Frequently Asked Questions

1. What is Trade Spotlight: Spreads?

The Trade Spotlight is a commodity trading advisory. It's an email based service providing futures spread trade recommendations by applying our methodology based on our trading philosophy. Our technique is to track specific chart patterns for breakouts and apply key technical indicators to confirm the trade setup. That trade setup provides specific entry and exit levels with a focus on risk and capital management.

2. What do I receive with Trade Spotlight: Spreads?

You receive a precise futures spread trading plan from entry to exit. It includes specific entry price, defined stop loss, target, and real-time trade management. In addition, you'll see the rationale behind the trade setup so you can learn as you trade.

3. Which markets are traded?

The trade advisory covers over forty futures markets spanning eight market sectors. It provides diversified trading opportunities in both the financial and physical commodity markets.

4. Are there seasonal spread trades?

The seasonality aspect of futures spreads is very much taken into consideration during analysis of a market. When in line with a seasonal tendency the recommendation will make note.

5. How many trades should I expect?

There are potentially 0-4 new trade recommendations per month based on market conditions.

Frequently Asked Questions

6. What can I expect for emails?

The trade advisory consists of three parts. First, the Trade Setup emails present the new spread trade recommendations. These are delivered late afternoon or early evening to be acted on for the next session. Second, the Trade Management emails inform you when to tighten stops or take profits. Trade Management emails are normally delivered after the close, but may occasionally be sent out during the trading session if market conditions warrant. Lastly, the Monthly Summary email recaps the month's portfolio and is delivered after the first of the new month.

7. How much does this service cost?

There is no cost to receive this advisory service on an ongoing basis.

8. How do I gain access to the Trade Spotlight; Spreads?

Establish a trading account with our firm to receive unlimited access or just contact your current Daniels Trading broker to be added to the list. If you are not yet a client, we do offer a free trial.
